

Name: Sarwan Heer

Unit 4 Coding Task

Comment.java

```
1.  /*
2.   Run this file if you need to see the results
3.   Add comments for each part of the code
4.   To demonstrate that you understand what each part is doing
5.   You can see the comments in the Main file as examples
6.  */
7.
8.  import java.util.*;
9.
10.
11. public class Comment {
12.
13.     public static void main(String[] args) {
14.
15.         /*
16.          Scanner object is declared and inialized
17.          to be used for the console input
18.         */
19.
20.         Scanner input = new Scanner(System.in);
21.
22.         /* The flag to be used forchecking if while Loop should end*/
23.         boolean end = false;
24.
25.         /*
26.          Two array lists String and Integer are declared and initialized
27.          to hold team names and corresponding points
28.         */
29.         ArrayList<String> teams = new ArrayList<>();
30.         ArrayList<Integer> points = new ArrayList<>();
31.
32.
33.         /*
34.          do Loop is used here to allow the user to quit the program
35.          or to enter the team they want and the score for that team
36.         */
37.         do {
38.
39.             System.out.println("Press Enter to quit");
40.
41.             System.out.print("Enter team name and non negative points separated by space: ");
42.
43.             /*
44.              try block to determine what the user's input is via a String variable
45.              to store the input.
46.             */
47.
48.             try {
49.
50.                 String response = input.nextLine();
51.
52.                 /*
53.                  if statement is used to end the program if the user does not
54.                  type an answer.
55.                 */
56.
57.                 if (response == null || response.isEmpty()){
58.                     end = true;
59.                     throw new NullPointerException();
60.                 }
61.
62.                 /*
63.                  String stores the data and has it kept in a format
64.                  that when displayed will show the team name and
65.                  the score seperated.
66.                 */
67.
68.                 /*
69.                  data string uses an array to store the multiple team names
```

```

70.         and scores from the user if the user chooses to give multiple responses
71.     */
72.
73.     String[] data = response.split(" ");
74.
75.     /*
76.     if statement ensures that the program will inform the user
77.     that they have not provided all the required information
78.     */
79.
80.     if (data.length != 2) {
81.         throw new NumberFormatException();
82.     }
83.
84.     /*
85.     First value in the array should be team name so it is accessed
86.     as the first value in the index
87.     */
88.
89.     String teamName = data[0];
90.
91.     /*
92.     The second value in the array should be the score
93.     so it is accessed as the second value in the index.
94.     It is then parsed so that it can be read as an integer
95.     */
96.
97.     int teamPoints = Integer.parseInt(data[1]);
98.
99.     /*
100.    if statement determines whether the value given is positive which it is
101.    supposed to be. If it is negative the if statement informs the user about it.
102.    */
103.
104.    if (teamPoints < 0){
105.        throw new NumberFormatException();
106.    }
107.
108.    /*
109.    These add statements ensure that if more values are entered by the user
110.    they will be added to the array.
111.    */
112.
113.    teams.add(teamName);
114.
115.    points.add(teamPoints);
116.
117.    //Catch block to handle the exception when the program is done
118.    } catch ( NullPointerException npe){
119.
120.        end = true;
121.    }
122.    ///Catch block to handle the exception when team information is incorrect
123.    } catch (NumberFormatException nfe) {
124.
125.        System.out.println("incorrect team information!");
126.    }
127.
128.    //While statement ends the loop
129.    } while (!end);
130.
131.    //Prints out the table to display the team names and scores
132.    System.out.println("team\tpoints");
133.
134.    //For loop to print out all the values in the array for team names and scores
135.    for (int i = 0; i < teams.size(); i++){
136.
137.        System.out.println(teams.get(i) + "\t" + points.get(i));
138.    }
139.
140.    } //End of main method
141.
142. } //End of Comment class

```

Main.java

```

1. public class Main
2. {
3.     /* names will hold the names of students*/
4.     public static String[] names;
5.     /*
6.     grades will hold the grades for students
7.     each row will have the grades for corresponding students
8.     */
9.     public static int[][] grades;
10.

```

```

11.  /main method is used for testing our code/
12.  public static void main(String[] args)
13.  {
14.      /*
15.          Initialize names and grades.
16.          Students don't have same number of grades
17.          */
18.      names = new String[] { "George", "Ishaan", "Karandeep" };
19.      grades = new int[][] { { 55, 75, 70 }, { 100, 80 }, { } };
20.
21.      /* Testing getDataFor method*/
22.
23.      /*
24.          Expected output:
25.          There is no such student
26.
27.          */
28.      System.out.println(getDataFor(null));
29.
30.      /*
31.          Expected output:
32.          There is no such student
33.
34.          */
35.      System.out.println(getDataFor("Thomas"));
36.
37.      /*
38.          Expected output:
39.          Name: George
40.          Grades: 55 75 70
41.          Average: 66.67 ...
42.
43.          */
44.      System.out.println(getDataFor("George"));
45.
46.      /*
47.          Expected output:
48.          Name: Ishaan
49.          Grades: 100 80
50.          Average: 90.0
51.
52.          */
53.      System.out.println(getDataFor("Ishaan"));
54.
55.      /*
56.          Expected output:
57.          There are no grades for Karandeep
58.
59.          */
60.      System.out.println(getDataFor("Karandeep"));
61.
62.      /* setting grades to null*/
63.      grades = null;
64.
65.      /*
66.          Expected output:
67.          There are no grades for George
68.
69.          */
70.      System.out.println(getDataFor("George"));
71.
72.      /* setting names to null*/
73.      names = null;
74.      /*
75.          Expected output:
76.          There is no such student
77.
78.          */
79.      System.out.println(getDataFor("George"));
80.
81.  } //End of main method
82.
83.  /*
84.      This method will return the index
85.      of a given name in the names array
86.      */
87.  public static int getIndex(String name){
88.      /check if names or name are null or empty/
89.      if (names == null || name == null || names.length == 0){
90.          /* return -1 so that user knows name not found*/
91.          return -1;
92.      }
93.      /* iterate through names array*/
94.      for (int i = 0; i < names.length; i++){
95.          /* if name found return the index*/
96.          if (name.equals(names[i])){
97.              return i;
98.          }

```

```

99.     } //end of for loop
100.
101.     /* name not found; return -1*/
102.     return -1;
103. }
104.
105. /*
106.  this method will return a formatted string
107.  like this:
108.      if student is found and has grades:
109.          Name: George
110.          Grades: 50 60 70
111.          Average: 60.0
112.      if student exists but has no grades
113.          There are no grades for George
114.      for all other cases
115.          There is no such student
116.
117. */
118. public static String getDataFor(String name){
119.     /* get the index*/
120.     int index = getIndex(name);
121.
122.     /* student not found*/
123.     if (index == -1) {
124.         return "There is no such student";
125.     }
126.
127.     /* Get the average. This will rely on your completed code*/
128.     double average = getAverage(name);
129.
130.     /* Student found but there are no grades*/
131.     if (average == -1){
132.         return "There are no grades for " + name;
133.     }
134.
135.     /* declare and initialize the response to be returned*/
136.     String response = "Name: " + name + "\nGrades: ";
137.
138.     /*
139.      Iterate through grades particular row belonging
140.      to a given student whose name is in index location
141.     */
142.     for (int col = 0; col < grades[index].length; col++){
143.         /* add grades separated by space*/
144.         response += grades[index][col] + " ";
145.     }
146.
147.     /* Add the average to the reponse */
148.     response += "\nAverage: " + average;
149.
150.     /* return the response*/
151.     return response;
152. } //End of getDataFor method
153.
154. /*
155.  This method will find the grades
156.  in grades 2D array for a given student
157.  It will calculate the average of their marks
158.  It will return the average if student is found
159.  It will return -1 if student not found, or
160.  if student has no marks, or
161.  if grades and or names are empty or null
162. */
163.
164. public static double getAverage (String name){
165.     // get the index of the student
166.     int index = getIndex(name);
167.
168.     // if student not found or grades is null, return -1
169.     if (index == -1 || grades == null) {
170.         return -1;
171.     }
172.
173.     // if the student has no grades, return -1
174.     if (grades[index] == null || grades[index].length == 0) {
175.         return -1;
176.     }
177.
178.     // calculate the sum of grades
179.     double sum = 0;
180.     for (int grade : grades[index]) {
181.         sum += grade;
182.     }
183.
184.     // calculate and return the average
185.     return sum / grades[index].length;
186. } //End of getAverage method

```

```
187.
188. } //End of Main class
```